LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1966, being of sane mind and sound body, do hereby make and publish our Last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

To the faculty and administration we leave our sincere appreciation for their guidance, encouragement and intellectual stimulus they have provided for us.

ARTICLE II

To the Juniors, we leave our positions as the leaders of Glen Alpine High School.

To the Sophomores, we leave our perseverance and integrity.

To the Freshmen, we leave the same aspirations to become Seniors we had as Freshmen.

ARTICLE III

We, the graduates of 1966, individually leave to our successors the following:

- I, Revonda Lail, leave for better or worse.
- I, Harriet Browning, leave my sweet disposition to Jill Orders.
- I, Nancy Baker, leave with no more Baker's to follow.
- I, Wanda Brewer, leave my troubles as editor of the paper to some fortunate Junior.
- I, Larry Klotzle, leave my tape jobs to next year's football manager.
- I, Wesley Reeps, leave to help the Petty boys race Plymouths.
- I, Glenda Johnson, leave to try to make Jock happy.
- I, Jim Beeler, leave my pink Pontiac to Jim Benfield.
- I, Phillip Vance, leave my football physique to David Berry.
- I, Diane Carroll, leave "Cheyenne" to next year's paper staff.
- I, Darlene Davis, leave my typing ability to Cathy Grey.
- I, Glenda Greene, leave my job at Kibler's to Libby Bridges.
- I, Steve Jenkins, leave my ability to sleep in math and not get caught to Phillip Abernathy.
- I, Tom Heffner, leave my ability to get caught places I shouldn't be to some unfortunate Junior.
- I, Wanda Jaynes, leave my long hair to Maggie Patton.
- I, Betty Waller, leave my melodious voice to Sheila Shelton.
- I, Ruby Rutherford, leave my red coat to Rosa Lee Watkins.
- I, Lee Denton, leave Carolyn behind, but not for long.
- I, Gary Duckworth, leave my intellect to Larry Hardin.
- I, Janet Williams, leave to become a June bride.
- I, Margaret Epley, leave my uncensored wit to Susan Rogers.
- I, Dwight Stillwell, leave my old clothes to the Yiddish war orphans.
- I, Phillip Patton, leave my ability to write poetry to Robert Moses.
- I, Rindy Proctor, leave my sweet personality to Joyce Wilson.
- I, Glenn McCurry, leave to work on Fords.
- I, Ronald Hipps, leave my trip to the West to Mrs. Taylor.
- I, David Powell, leave my muscles to Sonny Taylor.
- I, Susan Crawley, leave my eccentric laugh to Robert Duckworth.
- I, Donald Farris, leave my ability to charm the teachers to Allen Reep.
- I, Linda Brittian, leave my romantic appeal to Myra Hancock.

- I, Richard Mode, leave my nickname "lover" to anyone who can get by with the things I did in study hall.
- I, Paul White, leave my popularity to Greg McGee.
- I, Kay Norman, leave my flirtatious ways to Beverly Branch.
- I, Doug Patton, leave to join the rest of the Patton Clan.
- I, Mildred Milligan, leave my quiet disposition to Ann Vines.
- I, Bobbie Jean O'Neil, leave my geography reports to Mr. Little.
- I, Laura Scott, leave my big mouth to Brenda "Stork" Stewart.
- I, Dollie Shade, leave so Mrs. Pyatte can go to France.
- I, Wynn Justice, leave my position as president of the Student Council to Robert Arrington.
- I, Bill Royall, leave my scientific mind to "Doc" Arrington's laboratory.
- I, Judy Johnson, leave my red hair to Donna Carpenter.
- I, Angelia McElrath, leave my ability to study history during sixth period to Anna Avery.
- I, Jean McGalliard, leave to eventually become Mrs. Martin.
- I, Eddie Simpson, leave my love for motorcycles to Ralph Orders.
- I, Bo Taylor, leave my suaveness to some other lady killer.
- I, Sam Wallace, leave my ability to get along with other students to Gene Caldwell.
- I, Irene Cowan, leave my chats before fifth period to Phyllis Hensley.
- I, Patsy Clontz, leave my flute to Libby Shearin.
- I, Mitzy Leonard, leave my petiteness to Dana Michaels.
- I, Bill Scott, leave my ability to lay out of school to Dennis Payne.
- I, Dean Powell, leave my ability to be called to the office to Jack Hyatt.
- I, Elaine Cook, leave my ability to read the newspaper in the library to Leon Milligan.
- I, Sandra Carswell, leave my ability to plan parties to Jo Ellen Mauney.
- I, Everett Browning, leave my "suds" to Gary "June Bug" Abernathy.
- I, Kenny Hildebrand, leave to make a living from that little red truck.
- I, Jill Beardsley, leave my position as co-captain of the color guard to Linda Flowers.
- I, Libby Clontz, leave my ability to get every honor coming and going to my little sister "Sac".
- I, Harriette Williams, leave my model figure to Sheila Pyatte.
- I, Lynn Justice, leave what's left of my bus to anyone who wants it.
- I, Mike Smith, leave my courteousness to Bruce Gale.
- I, Linda Epley, leave the dents in the Drivers-Ed car to Mr. Miller.
- I, Junie Branch, leave my love for the Morganton library to Libby Ewing.
- I, Barbra Abernathy, leave my love for basketball to Belinda Wilson.
- I, Tony Wood, leave my position as co-captain of the football team to Glen Winters.
- I, Dewey Stillwell, leave my cash register to Larry Hawkins.
- I, Linda Branton, leave my writing ability to Bracey Bobbitt.
- I, Brenda Buchanan, leave my ability to make friends to Brenda Whitener.
- I, Victor Scott, leave my athletic powers to Warren Scott.
- I, Paul Patton, leave my ability to tell jokes to my little brother Mustard.
- I, Kenny Pitts, leave my ambition to Stacy Scott.
- I, Elias Bryant, leave my neatness to Rufus Shade.
- I, Carolyn Costner, leave my politeness to Glenda Greer.
- I, Libby Franklin, leave my hard work on the annual staff to Glenda Fox.
- I, Martha Lipscomb, leave at 2:55 to catch the bus.
- I, Sandra Williams, leave my artistic ability to John Ragan.
- I, Carolyn White, leave to be with Joe.
- I, Wilma Watson, leave to be a-Head.
- I, Vera Lytle, leave my problems in French to Sarah Rutherford.

- I, John McGalliard, leave to pollute the world.
- I, James Farris, leave my hard work in the library to Jackie Farris.

CLASS PROPHECY

Kenny Pitts - Prophet

The plane glided easily on the runway of the bustling air terminal in the thriving metropolis of Glen Alpine and slowly came to a stop. I paused a moment on the runway, after leaving the plane. It had been a long time since I had been in my old home town and even longer since I had graduated with the class of 1966. I wondered what had happened to the other members of the class of '66.

As I walked toward the terminal building, I passed Jimmy Farris, the pilot of the plane which I had flown in on; Gene Edwards, his co-pilot, and Junie Branch and Linda Epley, two attractive stewardesses, were on the plane. A private plane was parked in a nearby hangar. I learned that it belonged to that Wall Street financier, David Powell. Outside the terminal I hailed a cab and found the driver to be Kenny Hildebrand. I checked in at the Hick Hotel, owned and operated by Donald Farris and Gilbert Norman.

The next morning I strolled around Glen Alpine, gazing at the names of the numerous stores. I saw Williams' Department Store owned by none other than Harriett, Janet, and Sandra. I passed Richard Mode's ballet school. Next was Jean and Wilma Watson's Fashion Shop with Mildred Milligan, Sandra Carswell, and Jill Beardsley as three beautiful models. Across the street, I saw Libby Franklin leave her dental office with a pair of pliers and a hammer (She must have been going to make a house call.) The Professional Building was occupied by lawyers Wynn Justice and Elias Bryant, dentist Dewey Stillwell, draftsman Jim Beeler, and the well-known psychiatrist Wanda Jaynes. Next to the Professional Building was the establishment of the GLEN ALPINE WORLD, one of the largest newspapers in the United States. (It's printed on pieces of paper six feet wide and ten feet long.) The editor is Wanda Brewer with Mitzy Leonard and Bobbie Jean O'Neil as social editors, and Revonda Lail as sports editor.

In front of the WORLD building were several racks of newspapers. The headlines told of astronaut Steve Jenkins' trip to the moon. (People always said that Steve was out of this world.) There was also an article telling about the discovery of a more powerful rocket fuel by that intellectual scientist Garry Duckworth.

As I passed Nancy Baker's Book Store, I saw a copy of the best-seller HOW TO GET A PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY SANDWICH THAT SWIMS BY CROSSING A PEANUT, A STICK OF BUTTER, AND A JELLY FISH written by Harriett Browning and Susan Crawley. Next to this book was the book HOW TO SLEEP IN CHEMISTRY WITHOUT REALLY TRYING written by Alan Bridges. Next to the Book Store was the White Theatre owned by Carolyn and Glenda. The theatre was presenting the movie TOO BAD ABOUT YOU based on the novel by Judy Johnson. It was starring Lynn Justice, Barbra Abernathy, Patsy Clontz, and Elaine Cook. Across the Street was Dollie Shade's Beauty Salon.

I crossed the street and headed toward the recently built town hall. I went inside and found the mayor, Dwight Stillwell, reading the notorious paper-back book CANDY HILL. Standing nearby was the police chief Bill Royall gazing at a picture of that international beauty queen Shirley McCurry. I learned from them about how some of the class of '66 were doing and where they were. It seems that Linda Brittain has made permanent residence in Oak Hill. Mike Smith is a salesman for the Space Ways of America. Carolyn Costner is doing very well as a secretary in New York. Rindy Proctor is preparing to become the world's first lady astronaut. Sam Wallace is vice-president of a trucking company in Chicago.

I left the town hall and walked past the Glen Alpine Cultural Museum which exhibited works by such contemporary artists as Glenda Greene, Darlene Davis, and Phillip Patton. Next to the museum was the home of our ex-Governor Tom Heffner.

Two blocks farther, I came to the night places of Glen Alpine. On my right I saw the Wave a Go-Go discotheque featuring the Knock-Kneed Four composed of Doug Patton, Dean Powell, Lee Denton, and Wesley Reeps, and those beautiful go-go dancers Laura Scott, Wanda Stamey, and Kay Norman. Next week the Wave a Go-Go is planning to feature Vera Lytle, Martha Lipscomb, Ruby Rutherford, and Angelia McElrath known as the Silver Bells. Next to the discotheque was the Riviera Night Club owned by that international playboy Victor Scott and featuring that beautiful singer Betty Waller and comedian John McGalliard. Then I saw the big attraction of Glen Alpine. It was the GA Bunny Club operated by Phillip Vance and featuring Margaret Epley, better known as "Flamin' Mamie". Next was the television station WREC. I took a tour of the station and met Tony Wood, the manager, Diane Carroll, his secretary, and several television celebrities and movie stars. Among them were Everette Browning, star of the EVERETTE BROWNING SHOW, Libby Clontz, Linda Branton, and Irene Cowan.

I finally made my way to the high school. I learned that Bill Scott is the new principal, Ronald Hipps is a favorite math teacher, and Eddie Simpson is the new band director. In the gym, I found Jean McGalliard coaching the girls' basketball team.

I then walked over to the Glen Alpine Memorial Stadium where the Glen Alpine pro-football team was playing a rival foe. The team featured several home town stars. They were Paul Patton, Paul White, and "Bo" Taylor. To rival foes, they are known as the "gruesome threesome." The team is managed by Larry Klotzle. Next to the stadium was the Slipin and Slidin Speedway which has featured such racing greats as Glenn McCurry and Johnny Burnette.

The day was slowly coming to a close as I arrived back at the hotel. I thought about how much Glen Alpine had changed as the lights began to appear in many of the night places of Glen Alpine.
